Grand Jury Indicts 6

The January term grand jury for the 13th Judicial District Court Monday returned six indictments including two charges of armed robbery, three burglary charges, and one charge of injury to personal property.

The armed robbery indictments named James Washington and Elmer Kelly as defendants in connection with an alleged Nov. 11, 1971 robbery and assault with firearm of R. M. Sherrar. Bond was denied on the defendants in both cases.

One of the persons indicted for burglary is David Earl Riley who allegedly illegally entered a house occupied and controlled by George Mooneyhan on Dec. 14, 1971.

Another burglary indictment was against Johnny Turner Jr., charged in an Oct. 24, 1971 incident of allegedly illegally entering a house occupied by Doyle Chambers.

Turner is also charged with an Oct. 24, 1971 burglary of the residence of B. L. Hagle. This is case No. 19,929.

The indictment charging injury to personal property was against Archie Beldin and is listed as case No. 19,899. The defendant allegedly damaged a door to an automobile by kicking the door of the car owned by Peter Borsellino. The incident allegedly occurred Dec. 15,

Douglas

Navarro County Judge Kenneth Douglas today commented on a new responsibility which has been presented to the Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. The responsibility, he said, is in connection with changes in financing of schools following a recent court decision.

The committee, to which Douglas was appointed by Gov. Preston Smith, met in Austin Friday.

Douglas said the group heard Assistant Attorney General Pat Bailey and a deputy director of the Texas Education Agency discuss the many ramifications of the San Antonio case styled Rodriques, et al, vs. San Antonio Independent School District.

"The Adivsory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations has been charged with the responsibility of coordinating all the studies and ideas on school financing based on this decision," Douglas said. "The commission further agreed to study its impact on all governmental agencies.

"The San Antonio school case, in effect, said that each school district must provide the same amount of per capita expenditure for each school student. For instance, in rich school districts, the per capita expenditure would be considerably greater than those from the poorer districts.

Studying Vacek Calls for United Effort Financing<sub>BV</sub> CAA Within Regional Groups

By ROB MECKEL Sun Staff Writer

DALLAS—Community Action Program leaders and staff workers from throughout the State of Texas, attending the Texas Association of Community Action Agencies Quarterly Conference at the Baker Hotel here Wednesday, heard several speakers, including Navarro County Action Committee Director Jerome Vacek, speak about the present status of CAP agencies and the outlook for the very near future.

In his report on legislative strategy trends, Vacek said the CAA should "be prepared to work within a metro and regional governmental concept within a state" and work to make it democratic in nature so that persons now participating in various CAA programs will be fairly represented.

Vacek began his speech by describing the development of CAA's. He said after the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 was passed the basic goal was to eliminate poverty. The services-oriented programs which developed from the bill, Vacek said, were designed to identify needs and problems in the community and relate them to all resources. Emphasis was on resident participation in decision-making.

Chamber Seeks Airport Board

By BETTY JEAN CLAY Sun Staff Writer

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution at the February board meeting Thursday recommending that the City of Corsicana establish a five-member airport advisory board.

The recommendation came from the transportation committee which this year is focusing attention on needs of the airport.

Reporting for the Transportation panel and moving, adoption of the resolution was Dr. David Campbell, former Corsicana mayor, who said the purpose of the proposed board would be to "study, recommend and seek implementation of steps and procedures to realize immediate and long-range goals for the maintenance and improvement of the local airport."

The City Commission reportedly wanted the Chamber to request the city to create the airport advisory board.

President Ned Polk announced to the board the executive committee had approved the Industrial Team's working with the new State Technical Advisory Program in a mutual effort for economic development. This is a new state program, funded for one year, to assist communities in attracting new industrial employment opportunities and training manpower to fill the newly created jobs in cooperation locally with the Navarro County Action Committee Manpower Training program. Brief resumes were heard from membership chairman.

Vacek said the results of that bill seven years later now is that "Overall, we've had a tremendous proliferation of agencies which have picked up the lingo, and resources have increased for the

"If we have to give it a score, we have to say it's been an overwhelming success," the NCAC director said.

In his "ominous forecast" for the CAA's, Vacek said it is highly significant that for the first time since the act was passed, a president (Nixon) has vetoed appropriations for the EOA programs. Many people have tried to blame the Head Start and Legal Services programs as having been the basis for the veto.

Vacek said Congress approved Head Start in the last appropriations bill because of the many letters congressmen received from persons favoring the program.

"Apparently, they, (people who wrote commented.

The present status of CAA's on legislation is that there is strong support in the Senate, but "on the House side it's weak, barely making the majority. Many representatives are negative toward Office of Economic Opportunity programs, but some of the key leaders are still in favor of the programs, according to Vacek.

He said that during the past Christmas season, his staff conducted a telephone survey of Congressmen to learn their attitudes. Only two of the 25 were positive and most of the others were negative about OEO, although they complimented work being done at the local CAP level. He commented that since this is election year, there may soon be more positive votes for these programs. Vacek told of a "growing, pervasive movement to restructure governmental powers of decision-making and redistribution of this authority.

Changes which will result from this movement, he said, will be based on state plans and regional plans. The resulting regional planning will involve reconstruction of government and bring about new juristictions of power within the state in the form of something like the Council of Governments.

The big issue, he said, is to insure citizen participation in decision making as state-regional control moves away from local control.

"We must be prepared to work within a metro-regional planning concept," Vacek said. He said the CAA's need to have a coordinated approach and work

He said some things that can be done are to work with various boards, talk to constituents and write letters to state law-making and executive officials. He said CAA officials should know the Council of Governments leadership and study as much as possible about regional planning, revenue sharing, and new legislation.

The state conference began Wednesday morning and ended at noon today. Vacek and 10 staff members attended the general session meetings and later the various workshops. The state association's business session was held this morning.

'Cotton Picking' Site Abandoned by Board

By ROB MECKEL Sun Staff Writer

The Housing Authority of the City of Corsicana, during its regular monthly meeting Tuesday at Northwest Apartments, yielded to protests from property owners opposing development of public housing units in an area designated as site "K", but immediately began seeking information on another proposed site.

Nine local residents crowded into the small meeting room and the ajoining hallway during the meeting to learn what the board's decision would be concerning the proposed site, located on a strip of land between U.S. 75 and U.S. 287 on the eastern edge of town.

The Housing Authority proposed to build 40 family units under a public housing program entirely funded by the federal government.

After minutes of the previous meeting were approved by the board, Chairman Robert "Bob" Scott, III, said the next step would be for the board to hear comments by visitors.

Ed Blackburn, director of the Housing program, then mentioned that he had gone before the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce, which informed him it would not endorse site "K".

Board member Charles Croft then moved that the board vote to "drop site 'K' and seek another site."

One of the visitors at the meeting, L. P. Forsythe, commented that there are no shopping or other similar business facilities available, and no area there for such businesses to be made available to residents.

A local city police officer, Melvin Byrd, commented that the two major highways near the project area would be a danger element to children and residents of the area if the board decided to accept site "K".

C. F. Dominy said that for many years he has owned the land adjoining proposed site "K" and has refused offers which would lower the value of adjoining property. He said he would oppose the proposed site if it would cause problems for his neighbors.

After further discussion, the motion by Croft was seconded and passed to drop the proposed site.

Immediately after the vote, as property owners were preparing to leave the meeting room, Board Member C. L. Redus commented "Every cottonpicking site we submit has been opposed. We must not lose sight of the fact that this project is to get housing for people. People are important, and that's what it's all about."

Later during the meeting, Croft informed the board that approximately 19 acres of property, given to the City of Corsicana on a term use basis, may possibly be available as a site for the housing project. He said the property donor, Louis Wolens, indicated he is in favor of allowing use of land for this

The board decided to allow Scott and the board's attorney, Robert Gladney, to speak with City Commissioners concerning use of the land for the project. In other business, Blackburn reported that a total of $12,757.24 was paid last month to the contractor presently working on construction of 40 housing units for the elderly.

The board also heard Blackburn tell about a request for a 5.5 per cent increase in pay, effective Oct. 1, 1971, for maintenance. After consideration, the board approved the pay hike.

One item brought up at the meeting was the question of whether or not to do business with a different bank each year in order to be fair to all banks in the community. The board decided to adopt this system and begin banking with Corsicana National Bank effective March 1, 1972.

A matter concerning a family at the Northside apartments, who had been asked to leave after neighbors complained about the tenant family, also came up for consideration by the board. After hearing several persons testify in the matter, the board decided to place the family on two month probation to determine whether problems can be

The article refers to Dr. Dawson's service as the first executive director of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs in Washington, D.C., as a founder of Americans United, as editor of The Baptist Standard and as pastor of several Texas churches, including First Baptist Church in Waco, where he served for 31 years.

Bill Jones Promoted To EHS Principalship

By KIT BAUMAN "Golden Circle" Editor

ENNIS—Bill Jones, currently principal of Houston Elementary here, was named Tuesday night to succeed Harlan Dauphin as principal of Ennis High School this coming school year. Dauphin will become business manager for the Ennis Independent School District.

The two promotions were part of a group of 17 school administrators, counselors and supervisors who were re-elected during Tuesday's school board meeting to new 2-year contracts. All are EISD employes who are not on standard contracts.

The board also approved establishment of a Curriculum Counsel in which 16 teachers will study and recommend changes where needed in the current EISD curriculum. An additional 21 teachers will be employed during the summer months this year in the actual revision. These teachers will be paid additional funds beyond what their contracts with the EISD call for.

Board members Carl Jones and Dr. Raymond Cook announced that they are candidates for reelection in the April 1 school board election. A third seat, that one vacated by former school board president Jimmie Donnell who retired last year, will also be filled in the election.

In other action:

-The board designated the annual Ennis Relays as the Ennis Centennial Relays.

—April 24-28 was designated Centennial Dress Days at the schools. Each day will represent a different 20-year period of Ennis history, and students will be encouraged to wear appropriate dress representing each period.

---16-year-old and students, plus all adult males at the schools, will be allowed to join in the Centennial beard-growing contest. Students must have parental permission to participate; also, parents must sign a prepared statement in which they agree to see that their son conforms immediately to the dress code by Monday, May 7, the date upon which the Centennial celebration here ends.

C. GARY CROW

Fort Worth Man Named To Head Navarro Savings

C. Gary Crow, 35, Fort Worth, has been named president of the Navarro Savings Association and will assume his duties Feb. 15, it has been announced by Chairman of the Board James W. Mc-Pherson.

For the past six years, Crow has been a CPA with Thrash & Aston, CPAs, in Fort Worth and is familiar with Corsicana as this firm has done the Association's audit over the past years. Board Chairman McPherson of Dallas made the announcement of Crow's election Wednesday while both were in Corsicana on business of the Navarro Savings Association. "We are very pleased that Mr. Crow is coming with us. He is a professional and probably as knowledgeable in the savings and loan field as anyone in this area. I am satisfied he will do us an outstanding job," Board Chairman McPherson said.

McPherson, who was elevated from the presidency to chairman of the board at the annual stockholders meeting recently, announced that E. Joe McGaugh, vice president, who has been with the Association for the past 1212 years, was elected to the board of directors. "I look forward to working with this community," President-elect Crow told The Daily Sun, "and becoming a part of Corsicana." Commenting on the previous year's business, McPherson expressed satisfaction with the current progress and indicated he looks forward to a good year in 1972.

The Association showed a 23.35 per cent increase in savings for the year, which amounted to more than two million dollars. The Association has had an overall growth of 25.13 per cent with an increase in assets of $2,799,472.20 for the years, bringing total assets up to $13,937,304.25. Crow is married and the father of three children: Diana Marci, 12;

Venessa Camille, 5, and Tessa D'Lynn, one. His wife's name is Laurel Ann. He indicated they will move to Corsicana probably after this term of school is out and when they locate a home.

He is a native of Friona, Parmer County, who was graduated from high school in Fayyetteville, Ark., in 1954. Crow is a 1962 graduate of Texas Tech and holds a Bachelor of Business Administration degree with a major in accounting.

He entered the U.S. Navy after graduating from high school, serving four years, and entered Tech upon completion of his military service. From 1962 until 1966, Crow was senior staff accountant with Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., then joined the Arlington Savings Association as secretary and treasurer for almost a year before taking the position of professional staff accountant with Thrash & Aston in December, 1966.

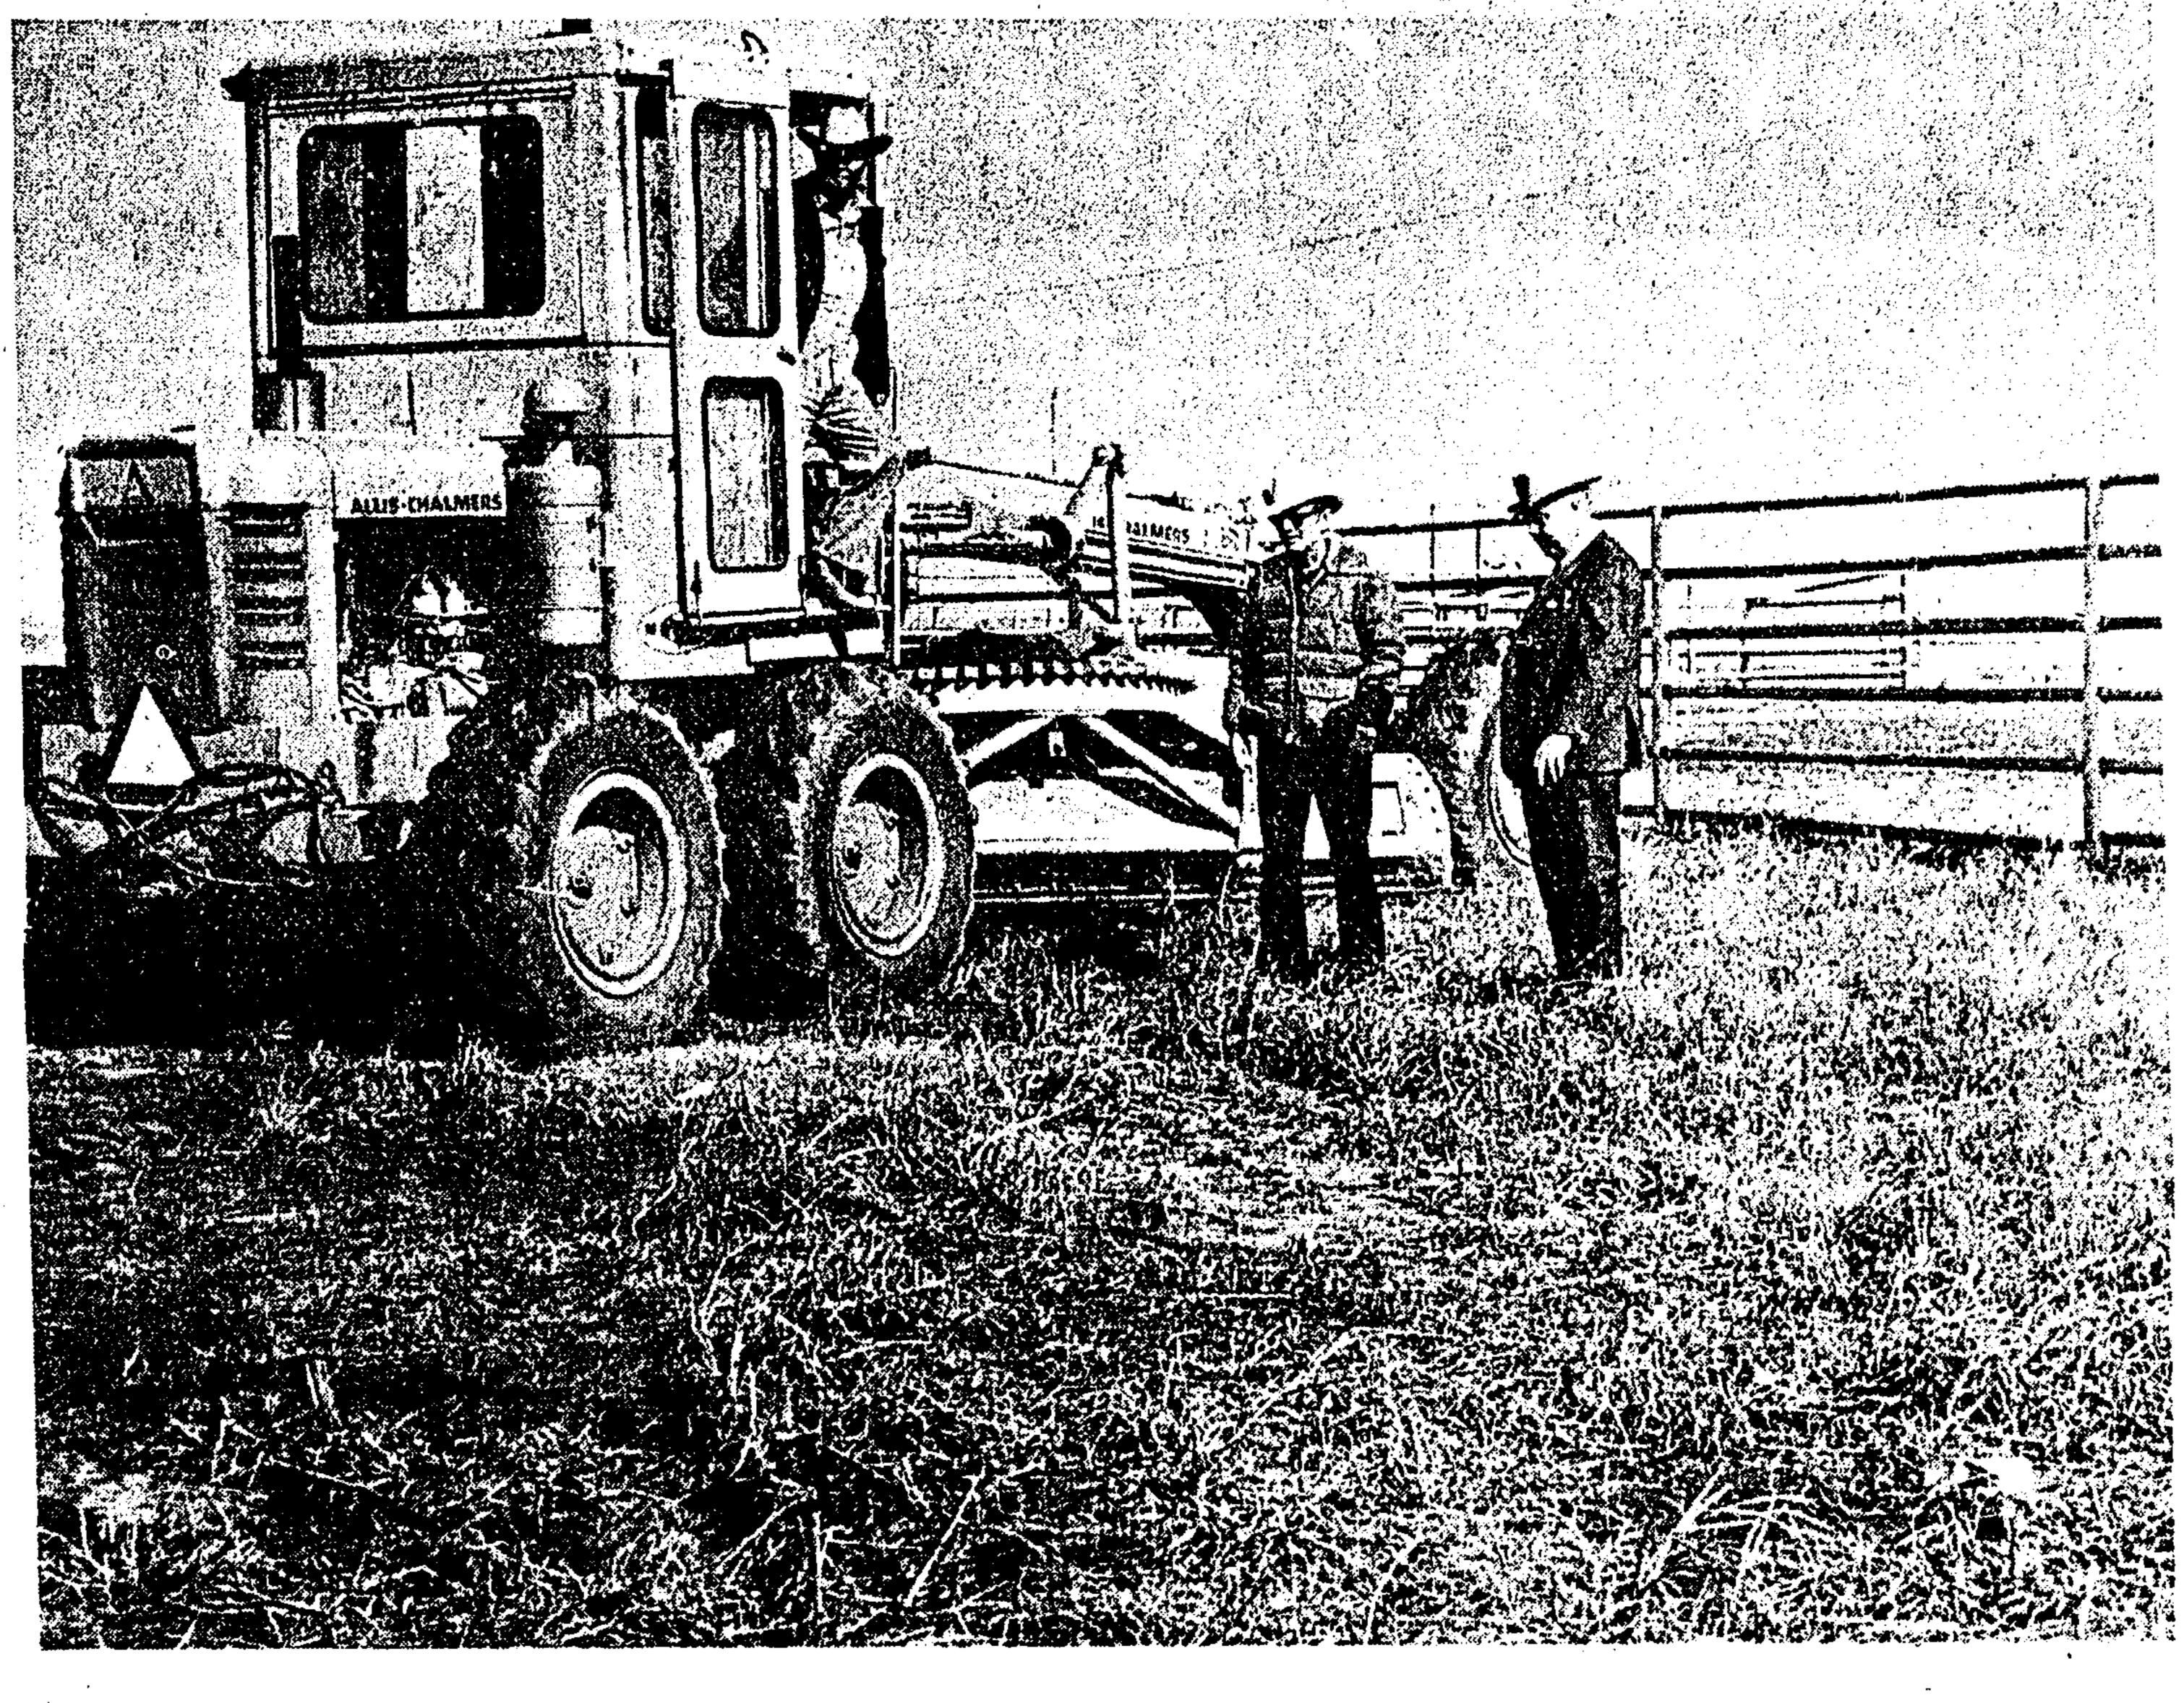

He is affiliated professionally with the Fort Worth Chapter of the Texas Society and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the American Accounting Association and the North Texas Chapter of Savings and Loan Financial Officers Association.

Mrs. Crow is a Camp Fire Girl leader in Fort Worth, and Crow has been active in the Camp Fire Girls program and the Tarrant County United Fund through his professional CPA chapter association.

He looks forward to becoming affiliated with a men's service club and engaging in civic work once he and his family can establish their home here.

To Survey Area Needs

Ag Panel

The Agriculture Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will initiate one new program project in 1972 and offer its services in cosponsoring the next Food and Fiber Abundance Week.

At the initial meeting of the Chairman Gene Barron advised that the executive committee had determined Agriculture Committee will continue in 1973 the annual Youth Exposition with much of the preparation already done for this year's show April 13-15, and that it will again co-sponsor both the annual Hay Show and the annual Farm and Pasture Tour with the County Agricultural Extension Service and its adjunct, the County Program Building

The committee was informed that it has been suggested that this year the Hay Show be combined with the Food and Fiber Abundance Week to avoid duplication of work.

A sub-committee will be designated later to coordinate efforts of the Agriculture panel with the prime sponsors of Food and Fiber Abundance Week, designated by the governor and coordinated in the various counties Ly each county judge.

Chairman Barron noted that last year the committee sponsored a roadside trash clean-up which spotlighted public attention on surface pollution from indiscriminate dumping of refuse along rural roads and streams. This project brought to light that many rural areas or county towns do not have designated dumping grounds that are maintained and controlled with dumped refuse being over-covered with dirt. This brought forth the suggestion from the Chamber's 1972 executive leadership that the Agriculture Committee could undertake a survey to determine what other services are lacking in rural areas, Barron related.

By a show of hands, members favored the idea of initiating a survey on the premise that Chairman Barron will name a sub-committee to determine the scope and how it will be carried

It was the consensus that while a "good start" was made in 1971 on the rural roadside cleanup, there is need for follow up this year in the environmental battle against surface and water pollution. The committee took cognizance that there are still incidents of salt water pollution of stream's and farm pasture which should be reported to either or both the Railroad Commission and Texas Water Quality Board for correction.

Attending the session were Bob' Capps, Ernest Featherston, James Fortson, Ed Fugger, Grover Pearson, J. A. Penney Jr., Wallace Pryor, C. L. Redus, Lynn Sanders, Gene Sears, Jack Smith, Dan Story, Lin Warthan, Gerald York, R. L. Wheelock and Chairman Barron.

Off and Running for Election Day Local, State, National Candidates

By KIT BAUMAN "Golden Circle" Editor

General Election Day, 1972, is only 273 calendar pages away, a period of a little less than ten months that already shows some signs of becoming one of the most hotly contested political years yet.

The Golden Circle represents a microcosm of the campaign scene throughout the state.

Involved in the various Texas House, Texas Senate and Congressional races are old pros and newcomers, reform candidates and staunch defenders of the status quo, liberals and conservatives.

The influences of the State Legislative Redistricting Board and the federal courts will be felt throughout, as they have been to a very large degree alre ady.

For the first time in years, for instance, candidates paid filing fees that appeared mere pittances compared to fees in the past. Candidates for District Judge, as a particular case in point, were required this year to fork over a $100 fee; in the past, fees for certain candidates sometimes reached $1,000.

The greatest single difference, of course, is that Navarro and Ellis counties are involved for the first time in memory in both Texas districts, the two constituting a single House district.

It is the House race that promises, even at this early date, to be the most interesting and the most fiercely con-

Six candidates, four of them from Ellis County, are vying for the seat and "stalking horses" (meaning candidates who draw from another candidate's strength, thereby preventing a runaway election) abound, making a runoff election almost a certainty.

Candidates in the Texas House, Texas Senate and U.S. Congress races as they pertain to the Golden Circle—as well as local candidates—are as follows:

Q: What is the law on stopping for school buses? I understood that drivers on both sides of the highway must stop while a school bus is loading or unloading, but I have seen cars on the opposite side of the road proceed without stopping. Aren't they breaking the law?

A: The state law governing overtaking and passing a school bus now reads as follows: "The driver of a vehicle upon a highway inside or outside a business or residence district upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which is stopped on a highway for purpose of receiving or discharging any school children shall stop the vehicle before reaching such school bus when there is in operation on said school bus a visual signal as specified in Section 124 (flashing lights on front and rear), and said driver shall not proceed until such school bus resumes motion or a signal by the school bus driver to proceed or the visual signals are no longer actuated. The driver of a vehicle upon a highway with separate roadways need not stop upon meeting or passing a school bus which is on a different roadway or when upon a controlled access highway and the school bus is stopped in a loading zone which is a part of or adjacent to such highway and where pedestrians are not permitted to cross the roadway."

Ellis Improvements, Court Reform Interest W. Woodman

Seven men have entered the race for the new Texas House District No. 27, and each of those men says he is the best candidate to take the seat in the newlycreated district.

No exception to the rule is Walter James Woodman, the attorney who resides in Waxahachie and is running as a Democratic Party prospect.

Woodman said his best qualification as compared to the other candidates is that he is an attorney.

"If a person is not a lawyer," he said, "it can be difficult for him to adequately serve the people as a legislator. Some of the greatest presidents in the United States were lawyers."

Woodman presented a list of items upon which he said he would seek enactment of legislation if elected to office. One of his aims is that the Courts of Civil Appeals be made Courts of Appeals and have appellate jurisdiction over criminal cases as well as civil cases and that the present Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin be made the Supreme Court of Criminal Appeals and have appellate authority by "writ of error" from the other Courts of Appeals in criminal matters only. He added that the Supreme Court of Texas would, under this proposal, retain appellate authority over civil matters. "The Court of Criminal Appeals now is being swamped with cases," he said.

Tarrant Countian New City Manager

Corsicana's search for a city manager is over as a selection has been made from among 21 applicants, Mayor Sue Youngblood announced Friday, and will be confirmed by the City Commission at its meeting next Tuesday.

Mayor Youngblood announced that the City Commission has hired Jack D. Russell, 35, currently city manager of North Richland Hills, a Fort Worth suburbs. Russell's employment is effective March 1 at a salary of $17,000.

The successor to Bob Brockman was one of three applicants called back to Corsicana for a second interview by all members of the City Commission after Mayor Youngblood and Commissioners H. R. Stroube, Jr., and P. D. Fullwood functioned as a committee to screen all candidates seeking the position.

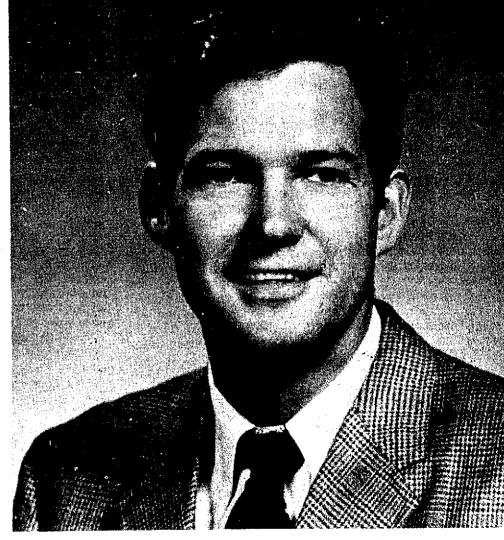

"We feel that Mr. Russell has the experience and education which we need to assist us in the implementation of our Master Plan for the city and we are proud to be able to obtain his services," Mayor Youngblood said.

He has been city manager at North Richland Hills for the past two years and prior to that had been an administrative assistant at Colorado City and employed by the tax assessor and collector for the Morton Independent School District.

In announcing the appointment, Mayor Youngblood noted that Russell gained considerable recognition at North Richland Hills for his efforts in acquiring and improving a water and sewer system for that city and for his ability to obtain federal and state grantin-aid funds for the city. He was also a leader in promoting cooperative agreements among cities in Tarrant County to provide better municipal services at lower costs.

Russell was reared in Morton, near Lubbock, and was graduated from high school there in 1953. He is a 1960 graduate of Texas Tech University with a degree in government. He did postgraduate work at Tech in local government administration.

He formerly served two terms as
